WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—

A temporary truce prevailed today between President Hoover and the Republican leaders of the senate, who are embittered and deeply resentful over the public dressing down which Mr. Hoover handed them last Tuesday.

Mr. Hoover refrained from issuing any further statement, criticizing congress for the manner in which it has dealt with his recommendations on economic legislation, although reports filled the Capital that one was in the making. And for their part, the Republican leaders rest on their ultimatum to the White House that the President need expect no defense against Democratic attack if he continued to issue such statements as last Tuesday's without consulting them.

Only Temporary
The truce, however, is believed only temporary. In all likelihood, the warfare between the President and the Republican leadership, by far the most

PA NEW OBSERVES

Local schools, or at least a part of them, are now encouraging caroling among their students more than ever before. One of the Junior high schools announces it will publish all original drawings of its pupils in the school paper, beginning with the Christmas issue.

An urge to help the city's needy folk, and not only the desire to stage a city championship game, caused the Marcellas and Croton football teams of the city to get together this afternoon. At Taggart field they're battling for charity's sake. All proceeds go to Mayor Gillespie's relief committee.

Pa New looks forward eagerly to the coming of Adjutant General F. D. Beary next Wednesday. The national guard chief comes here from Harrisburg to view possible sites for a new armory. New Castle needs one—and deserves one, for Troop F's rating now is one of the highest in the state.

A sleek black cat, the other day, decided he would like to have a North street home. He started to make a house to house canvas from the corner of Jefferson street to as far as Pa New could see east. At each door he would stop and meow. But no one seemed to want a cat just at that time.

If you are unable to purchase the entire sheet of Christmas seals sent you by the Lawrence County Tuberculosis Society, buy a part of them anyhow. Every little bit helps, you know.

When on East street today, you are invited to look in at the health poster exhibition room, 8 East St. to see the posters recently made by

FIVE LOCAL HUNTERS HURT—CAR OVERTURNS

Five New Castle hunters were injured at four a. m. today when their automobile skidded and overturned on an ice-coated hill near Berkeleyville. All the injured were enroute to hunt deer. They were brought to this city in relief cars furnished by fellow employees of the Penn-Ohio company.

The injured:
Earl Ruby; injured about back and arms.
Don Van Atten; laceration of face and bruises.
Eddie Anderson; lacerations of face and bruises.
Kenneth Cotton; lacerated head and bruises.
Ralph Reeher; lacerations of head.

All the injured were in the car driven by Ruby. All are employed by the Penn-Ohio company. Another auto containing employees of the same company, driven by Sam Mansfield managed to get off the icy grade and turn into a field. The cars loaded with deer hunters left New Castle early this morning. The Ruby driven car was in the lead. When he started over the hill half a dozen other cars which had proceeded him could be seen.

Most of them were overturned or in the ditch. It was impossible for Ruby to stop the car and it plunged down the hill and overturned, pinning Cotton beneath it. He had to be extricated.

The Ruby car was followed by another machine, not from New Castle, and it also was wrecked. After it came the machine driven by Mansfield and in some manner he managed to get the car off the road and drive the machine into a field.

As soon as possible they were given attention by a physician and returned to New Castle in relief cars driven by fellow employees. All the injured are confined to bed.

Following a meeting of the Board of Trustees, Friday afternoon in the Publication Building, Ninth Street, Pittsburgh, Pa., it was announced that Dr. W. C. Wallace, president of Westminster College had resigned. Dr. H. H. Donaldson, president of the Board of Trustees stated that Dr. Wallace would remain until the end of the present school year. A committee of trustees will be named to consider a successor.

At his home today Dr. Wallace had no statement to make other than because of his present condition of health he felt unable to attempt the financial program the board expected carried through. A resolution was passed by the board recognizing the splendid work done by Dr. Wallace during his regime as president of Westminster.

President Since 1916
Dr. Wallace was elected president of Westminster College in 1916. At that time he was pastor of the First United Presbyterian Church of Bradock, Pa., and was but forty years of age, one of the youngest college presidents in the United States. Under his direction and leadership, Westminster College has advanced to a position of prominence in the college world. Its scholastic standing is rated among the best, new buildings have been erected, the enrollment has been increased and the size of the faculty enlarged.

Appreciates New Castle Aid
"One of the pleasant features of my work as president of Westminster College has been the constantly increasing interest of the people of New Castle," said Dr. Wallace. "That interest has been a source of inspiration to me and because I have appreciated it, I want the people

Bandits Are Electro-

(International News Service)
OSSINING, N. Y. Dec. 13.—The three Long Island cry-baby bandits, who were so scared to cry, walked to their deaths in the electric chair at Sing Sing near midnight for the holdup killing of the druggist Charles Bauer in February.

The youths, James Butler, 29, Italo Ferdinand, 22, and James Bolger, 19, had won three reprieves from death so that authorities could hear the pleas of hundreds of mothers, ministers and others to commute their sentences. Life imprisonment. A last minute reprieve by Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt was denied.

Butler died silently. Ferdinand talked Bolger said little.

Up to the last the three had hoped for executive clemency but Governor Roosevelt in a statement denying clemency said "legal guilt" beyond doubt, though he sympathized with the parents.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—Battle plans of the old Republican irreconcilable group for opposing ratification of the new World Court Protocol today placed a new handicap on the already strained relations between President Hoover and his party leaders in the Senate.

The first session of the irreconcilables found three of the President's best known spokesmen on Capitol Hill lining up in the forefront of the fight against the instrument, despite the President's appeal for approval of the Court. They were Senator James E. Watson, Republican floor leader, Senator George H. Moses, president of the Senate, and Senator Arthur Vandenberg, leader of the Republican "young guard."

These Hoover leaders offered one ray of hope to the administration by declaring they favored postponing all action on the Protocol until December 1931. They opposed any action for the present even in the Senate foreign relations committee.

YANKEE STADIUM, Dec. 13.—Before a brilliant assemblage of upwards of 70,000 spectators who paid the record price of approximately $750,000 to see the show, the Army and Navy, bitter athletic rivals since 1890, staged the most gorgeous football pageant of the year this afternoon for the benefit of the unemployed.

Clear Cold Weather

Clear, cold, sunny weather greeted the big crowd which began pouring in, the stadium long before the game started. It was a colorful and distinguished throng, including a galaxy of cabinet officers, Army and Navy chiefs, Park avenue debutants and figures prominent in the social and official life of the city, state and nation.

Secretary of War Patrick J. Hurley and party were out there in one of the boxes flanking the field. Across the gridiron, on the Navy side, sat the Secretary of the Navy, Charles Francis Adams and party. Out there, too, was "Al" Smith and

It isn't either but sounds like both, a comical sound I love, for he's found he can whistle or nearly so, and he's constantly trying now. He goes around with his mouth perked up, till it looks like a tiny rose, and his cheeks swell out till he nearly bursts, and he wrinkles his snubby nose, and what comes out may not be so good, but it's classical music to me, for he's learning to whistle, and how he tries, the weather is forty three.

SENATE LEADERS FAVOR DELAY IN COURT RATIFYING

because of the danger of the Court might be used by opponents of the administration as a filibuster for a special session of Congress.

Favor Postponement

They believe the postponement would provide time too for settling all legislative and political differences between the President and his Senate leaders. They fear the effects on the country of continued conflict between the White House and Senate at a time when the nation is undergoing an economic crisis.

They much prefer to have friendly relations restored with the White House before engaging in so protracted and bitter a battle as will be waged over the Court issue.

Both Republican and Democratic friends of the Court also favor postponing Court action until next December. Pro-Court Republicans wish to avoid further embarrassment to the President at this time, while the Democrats have no desire to be put in the position of forcing a special session of Congress by compelling immediate action on the Court.

This attitude was shared by such insurgent irreconcilables, never friendly to Mr. Hoover, as Senator Hiram W. Johnson (R) of California, and Robert M. La Follette (R) of Wisconsin. They believed the World Court issue too important to be determined at a short session, and prefer to withhold their fight until the long session of the new Congress, even though their own ranks may not be as strong now. The fact that any lengthy battle now would be construed as a filibuster against the administration, rather than an honest fight against the Court, helped to influence their position.

Rebels Are Retreating

"I personally believe the matter is entirely ended. The worst will come when we have to try the ringleaders on charges of inciting rebellion."

Premier Berenguer Insisted that the remainder of the country was quiet, but it was understood Republican agitators were urging all unions to declare a nationwide general strike tomorrow.

NEW OUTBREAK TO OCCUR EARLY IN COMING WEEK

dramatic and significant political development in months, will flare forth again next week when the senate comes to consideration of the La Follette resolution.

There is political dynamite in the La Follette resolution. It was introduced a few hours after Mr. Hoover issued his now famous statement that congress was "playing politics with human misery" and seeking to "raid the treasury" and it has been held off the floor ever since only by the almost superhuman efforts of administration leaders.

Savage Debate
Open consideration of it, however, is only a question of time and there will be some savage debate over it. The resolution says:

"Whereas, millions of American citizens are in destitute circumstances due to unemployment and face privation and suffering, and whereas, the President of the United States, in a public statement, has indicated that consideration for the interests of income taxpayers necessitates restriction on governmental relief measures necessary to aid the jobless and their dependents, now therefore,

"Be it resolved, that it is the sense of the Senate of the United States that the relief of human suffering in this emergency would take precedence over the consideration of the interests of wealthy income taxpayers."

Mr. Hoover's friends feel that this resolution is aimed directly at him, in a personal way, and they are determined to beat it. Yet they admit that the resolution is framed in such a way that a good many senators will hesitate to vote against it.

Opinions Voiced

"Look at the language of it," said one Republican regular, rather ruefully. "If we vote against it, we are put in the position of considering the 'interests of wealthy income taxpayers' above 'human suffering.' I'd like to vote against it, but if I do I am open to that sort of attack."

A good many other Republicans voiced the same sentiment. The young senator from Wisconsin so framed his resolution that it is going to be difficult to get around. And the Republicans, of course, can expect no aid from the Democrats on this particular measure. Probably not a single Democratic vote can be expected against it.

Nevertheless, a determined effort is to be made to defeat it, and some Republican voices will be raised in the President's defense that have been strangely silent during this week's spectacular assault on Mr. Hoover.

The important point is, however, that once its consideration is begun it opens the flood-gates to a fresh and spectacular torrent of oratory in the senate which can only accentuate and emphasize the magnitude of the senate revolt against the White House.

STAR LORE

PLANETS VIEWED WITH THE SPECTROSCOPE

By Arthur DeV. Carpenter

When the spectroscope is turned onto any planet, all that comes into the spectroscope is reflected sunlight. Planets radiate no light of their own; only the sun and stars send forth light which they themselves generate. A star is a wonderful light plant. The substance of which a star is composed is in a state of incandescent heat and every atom in it is in a state of excitement. But planets are relatively cool and, with the exception of Mercury, Earth and Mars, are deeply buried in clouds. But the time will doubtless come when astronomers will read more of the meaning of the planets via the spectroscope.

Seeks Safe Place For Skating Here

"What in the way of winter sports are the people of New Castle providing for their children?" asks a local lady in a letter to The News.

The question comes as a result of several articles appearing in The News telling of various drowning of children who were skating in informal ice of the first winter freeze.

The writer of the letter suggests, "Why not flood Boyles field for them this winter? And why not also flood all the tennis courts in the neighborhood?"

Immediate and practical steps should be taken to give the New Castle youngsters some safe winter sports.

"We grown-ups aren't so grown up after all. We stand by and see our children trying to play hockey in the streets, stopping their game until the cars pass," the lady writes. "Let's do something about it. Children have a right to play. Nothing is so healthy as outdoor sport for the winter. Let's think of their recreation more here in New Castle—especially during the winter months!"

Charles Dunbar of Butler, was a business visitor in the city today.

MAKE ANSWER TO OIL CITY PROTESTERS

IN THE proceedings in Washington during the past week, in which the local river improvement project was being considered, a protest was presented against the Ohio river to Youngstown, and Lake Erie river and canal project, by Oil City, and some business interests along the Upper Allegheny. They protested that the best route for a connection between Pittsburgh and the lake was by way of the Allegheny river.

Why the Allegheny river route is not favored by Pittsburgh, and why the route through the Beaver, Mahoning and Shenango valleys is favored, is presented in a brief statement in the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, which reveals the situation in a nutshell, and shows why, when the river project is built it will come through this section and not up the Allegheny river valley. Here is what is stated:

It is too bad that just as things were looking rosy for the proposed canal to connect the Ohio River with Lake Erie, by way of Youngstown, business interests of the upper Allegheny River should come forward with a protest against the project.

They protest because, they say, a canal to connect the Great Lakes with the Ohio River could be constructed more cheaply by way of the Allegheny River and French Creek.

L. H. Garvin, secretary of the Oil City Chamber of Commerce, says he cannot understand why Pittsburgh should favor a route that would be beneficial to Youngstown, our most active competitor in the iron and steel industry.

No doubt if other things were equal Pittsburgh would be inclined to favor the Allegheny River route. But other things are not equal.

One of the most important things to be considered is the amount of traffic that would be offered the canal. There can be no doubt whatever that the volume of business to be obtained from the highly industrialized Beaver and Mahoning valleys would be far in excess of that to be obtained from the upper Allegheny. The protest is ill-advised.

ROUNDING OUT CANADA

It is doubtless surprising to most Americans to learn that Canada is still occupied with the pioneer task of rounding out its national boundaries.

The recent action of Norway in recognizing Canada's title to a group of islands within the Arctic circle completes the Dominion's sovereignty in the whole Arctic sector between the Canadian mainland and the North Pole.

The neighbor to the north has still other boundary ambitions. Canada would like to see Greenland brought into the Dominion by a similar agreement with Denmark. It is easy to understand this interest of Canada in Greenland. This huge ice-capped island is developing importance in relation to Canada's control of the shortest air route to Europe.

Occasionally a Canadian newspaper will give vent to a longing for the panhandle and peninsula of Alaska, and abandon itself to a dream of the whole northern and larger half of the North American continent exclusively under the British flag and His Majesty the King. One paper concludes, however, that "It is improbable that the United States will ever abandon its title to Alaska." With this conclusion all Americans heartily agree.—The St. Paul Dispatch.

CRUDE PROPAGANDA

Does Moscow imagine for a minute that the world is so gullible and naive as to swallow that grotesque farce upon which the curtain has just fallen? Never before has the world witnessed such a crude piece of stagecraft and elaborate bit of propaganda camouflaged by the pretense of administering justice.

Everything about the mock trial betrayed it as the gigantic hoax it was. The author who conceived it certainly deserves demotion in the propaganda forces of the soviet.

Suspected as propaganda from the first grandiloquent move by the prosecution, which in this case cast aside the usual secretiveness of the communist regime, the trial had not progressed far before suspicion grew into conviction. The ultimate commutation of the death penalties was as inevitable as their dramatic pronouncement.

Soviet Russia does not treat its political enemies in the manner in which the eight engineers were treated. Justice for a counter-revolutionist in Russia means a midnight firing squad and an unknown grave. The Kremlin doesn't discount the value of a martyr to the other side.

It is pertinent to ask at this time what would have been the fate of the eight engineers had they refused to play the roles in which they were cast by the central executive committee. It is also pertinent to ask where they will serve their sentences and how much of them they will serve.

PAY BILLS AS PROMPTLY AS POSSIBLE

In the midst of the talk about unemployment some persons who are in fairly good circumstances are reported as singularly remiss in paying their bills. In certain lines we hear it said that "business is good, but collections are slow." This happens frequently when conditions are normal and prosperity is general; but even then the merchant who has to wait for an undue length of time for his money finds the delay is embarrassing. It is much more the case at present when the need for ready money is obvious.

It is a fine thing to help those who are less fortunately situated than ourselves. There should be no let-up in well-doing of this kind. But those who are in a position to do so should pay their bills promptly, because there is no more effective way of speeding business than by keeping our just obligations. In some cases failure to pay is sheer neglect. Just at present that is an unpardonable offense.

The ideal way of getting along will never be realized by the idler

The reason some people are doing no business is because to them advertising is a lost art.

The world has made some progress. In the old days they always started a war to end unemployment.

It is easy for a man's neighbors to find out a great deal more about him than he cares to have them know.

Many persons do not seem to be ashamed to advertise the fact that they have made a failure of marriage.

Companionate marriage won't take the place of the old fashioned kind merely because bishops and ex-judges fall out.

With all this noise about "Buy Now" and "Give Work" it makes one feel patriotic every time he buys a newspaper or shirks the home chores.

Character From Handwriting?
Somewhere around the place is a clever fellow's analysis of my handwriting.

I don't know exactly where it is. I don't want to know. It's too clever—if you really care about knowing. I put it away carefully and forgot it. And I hope I never find it, because it makes me uncomfortable.

I didn't pay for it. I don't even know the man who analyzed me from just the way I write my name—and wrote a full page diagnosis. It isn't meant. It's a very friendly thing—and when I first read it my ears got red. He wrote quite a few nice things and I wondered how a man who'd never even seen me or heard of me and who lived days away in Texas could know me so well.

But I read the thing again and had a relapse. He didn't say everything he'd learned from looking at my signature. The compliments were there—quite plain—in black and white, but I saw a lot of dark, hinting phrases that made me restless and uncomfortable. That fellow knows too much. He's not merely an analyzer of HANDWRITING; he's a "psychic"; he's a magician; he's a devil and I'm afraid of him. He knows my weakness, my virtues, my secret snobbishness. He was on to me, but he didn't want to hurt my feelings.

He's "psychic," but I'm a mind-reader, too—and I don't want anybody around who knows so much. Only a man's family has the right to know so much—and they ought to keep still about it most of the time, except when he needs a little Bitter Truth.

I'm not so eager about handwriting analysis, anyway. It's bad business. . . . Could YOU stand it to have someone learn ALL ABOUT YOU, just by looking at something you wrote on a piece of paper?

Don't boast—you KNOW you couldn't.

College men are preferred to the self-made trend; fraternity men are preferred over the non-fraternity men. About seventy per cent do not enjoy kissing for its own sake; twenty per cent believe in companionate marriage; eighty per cent believe in divorce; thirty per cent consider themselves experienced in love.

In order of importance, the following qualities are desired in a husband: personality, appearance and wealth. About twenty per cent approve of the double standard of morals. Their favorite cities rank as follows: San Francisco, New York, Washington, Los Angeles and Chicago. Women most to be admired are Mrs. Hoover, Helen Willis, "Mamma" and Amelia Earhart. Men most admired are Lindbergh, Hoover, Edison, David Starr Jordan and Adlai Byrd ("Papa") does not seem to count.

Nearly one-half of the girls are Christians; fifteen per cent have no religious faith; seven per cent believe in exotic Oriental creeds; and one per cent admitted a belief in spiritualism.

That much for the "Eternal Feminine."

And we'll sail her in the spring

If the good Lord let us live!"

Farm Board's Latest Move Makes Favorable Comment

Wheat Purchases in Market And Advice On Feeding, With Prospect Of Smaller Acreage Believed To Have Reduced Criticism

After a long period of severe criticism, the Federal Farm Board is viewed with more friendly eyes, as a result of recent moves. Support of wheat prices through purchases in the market have impressed the public, while the scheme for use of this grain for feeding purposes is considered with open minds, particularly because of the possible effect on acreage planted. There are still opponents of government action in business, and those who contend that grain in the possession of the government may be a handicap.

"Within a period of ten days," declares the ASHEVILLE TIMES, "the fortunes and prestige of the Farm Board have changed from depression to apparent success."

The present, the board has saved a crisis far graver than any they have yet encountered in falling prices. And it is probable that the board stands ready to intervene as often as may be necessary to end panicky selling. . . . If, in the weeks immediately ahead, the wheat market demonstrates the soundness of the Farm Board's program another foundation stone will have been laid for a new structure of stabilized general business.

"The silence at the present time of large operators in the grain market who were so open in their criticism of the board when, earlier in the year, it first made grain purchases, speaks volumes," in the opinion of the MADISON WISCONSIN STATE JOURNAL. "It is a strong confirmation of the declaration emanating even from the wheat pit, that the American market was close to a panic, and that, had it not been for the consistent purchases by the Farm Board, the wheat price would have tumbled to such a figure as to have rendered American agricultural conditions precarious."

The State Journal concludes its discussion with the quotation from Chairman Legge of the board that "the consumption offered in the feeding of wheat to cattle creates a market that should place wheat at 76 cents."

The SOUTH BEND TRIBUNE holds that "so long as the Grain Corporation maintains its position in the wheat market, criticism will be minimized." The paper also says as to prevention of a market break: "This is a service which can be appreciated by virtually everybody, for collapse of American grain prices to the Liverpool and Winnipeg levels would add to business uncertainty."

The JANEVILLE GAZETTE finds assurance that the grants supports the board, and adds: "With other farm organizations refusing to take the bait of the private marketing organizations, there appears to be harmony in support of the board by the farmers."

"Tendency to criticize the board," avers the LEXINGTON LEADER, "is by no means so strong as it was. The farmers are beginning to wake up what has been accomplished and what is possible under the act which the board is administering."

The ST. PAUL PIONEER PRESS feels that "in the absence of any other explanation, the purchases of the Farm Board must be given credit for stabilizing the market at Chicago, so that, while normally several cents below Winnipeg, it is now well above that market."

The condition is believed by The Pioneer Press to "involve far less consternation of the possibilities of the Federal Farm Marketing Act." That paper also concludes that "the contrasted situation at Chicago and Winnipeg demonstrated that, through marketing act operations, the board has found it possible to make the tariff effective on wheat to a degree."

The re-entry into the market improves the DIES MOINES REGISTER as "erasing the supposed 'feature' of market intervention last spring," and "infusing the bitter opponents of all government aid to the farm." The Register concludes as to future prospects: "More legislation will likely come before the farm parity fight is over. The present may be a time to consolidate the gains already seized. The farm act and the farm board may be more widely defended as the foundation than attacked because in so short a time they have not become more than that. There are plenty of persons who are out to 'get' the farm board, and especially to 'get' Chairman Legge."

Mr. Legge contends that if the plan of feeding wheat to cattle is carried out further, "the PLINT DAILY JOURNAL" states "the problem will be solved easily and without serious consequences. That farmers are actually 'seeing the light' is somewhat heartening." The CHAMPAIGN NEWS-GAZETTE, with the contention that "the solution of the wheat problem lies in finding a use for all of the wheat that the world produces," recognizes the call for human consumption and the carry-over for future protection, and concludes: "Then, with an assured system of converting surplus wheat into animal food that would bring a fair return, the nations could end the warfare which now threatens to become the cause of serious differences."

Discussing the annual report of the Farm Board, which has just been submitted, but does not cover recent operations, the PHILADELPHIA EVENING BULLETIN argues that "the Farm Board is still holding its load of wheat, to the point where further purchases may present a serious problem of storage, and it does not know how to get rid of its burden." The WORCESTER EVENING GAZETTE forecasts: "Uncle Sam will be left to hold the bag; and if anybody can tell the old gentleman what to do with it suggestions will be gratefully received." The OMAHA WORLD-

HERALD contends that "the Farm Board has been a failure and will continue to be a failure," for "the board doesn't know what to do." That paper says of Chairman Legge: "He wants wheat to stay about where it is, for the present, so that the surplus crop will be kept off the market, and farmers will be forced to feed it. If they are forced to feed, they won't plant so much next year, he thinks, and curtailed production is about the only remedy Mr. Legge can find. He points to 200 million bushels being fed this year—four times the usual amount—as a result of low price and farm policy, forgetting the drought."

Quoting the board's statement in its report that "it was clear in the early stages of the work that no important stabilization efforts could succeed, except temporarily, unless the farmers themselves adjusted production to prospective demand," (Continued On Page Five)

Look in the Mirror!

Do you know that you have many facial expressions which are displeasing?

You have allowed yourself to get into the habits and have made no effort to rid yourself of them.

Perhaps you have the mistaken idea that they are attractive. Facial contortions have a place on certain kinds of programmes.

You fit certain characters, but you are not supposed to be playing a part.

You are considered a normal, sensible being, and you are that.

But persons have laughed when you twisted your face and so you think it amuses your friends, when they are laughing at you and not with you.

Try to imagine what you would think—wouldn't it annoy you—to talk with a person who twitched nose or ears or mouth all out of shape in conversation?

Perhaps you have a habit of sniffing, rubbing your hand over your face, pulling your nose, clearing your throat or scratching your chin.

All of these things are annoying to your associates.

Look at yourself in the mirror while you do these things and think whether you would care to stand it from your friends.

Almost 250 More Remaining To Be Hauled When Diggers Stopped Today

Activity went ahead in full blast this week at the 20-acre surface coal strip of the New Castle Mining and Clay Products company in the Croton district, turned over by the company to county poor department authorities for relief among the needy.

To date a total of 2,393 tons have been removed, 530 being hauled away to homes at the county's expense. The remaining loads have been transported on trucks provided by the diggers.

County Poor Director M. B. Hogue again commented today that as a relief measure nothing better could have been proposed. Extra tons are dug willingly by the men. It was estimated that 250 tons awaiting to be hauled remained on the ground today.

Sharpsville R. R. Quits January 10

Grace Period Operations Continue; Sale Up On That Date In Mercer

Final disposal of the Sharpsville Railroad, will be determined at a sale scheduled to take place in Mercer on Saturday, January 10, 1931.

While the Pennsylvania public service commission, after granting the Sharpsville receivership the right to abandon the road, set November 18 as the date for abandonment, the Sharpsville took advantage of the grace period allowed.

It is understood that all operations of trains over the line will cease either on January 10 or the day following, but the usual schedule will be maintained until that time.

Pennsylvania officials here would not comment on the proposed action contemplated by their company, calling for the Pennsy to take over that part of the Sharpsville extending from New Wilmington junction into New Wilmington. However, it is probable the Pennsy will assume control of that section.

the NEW YORK SUN adds: "This truth remains equally clear in the later stages of the board's work, and to forget or to ignore it would give positive endorsement to acceptance of a fallacy that has already proved expensive to the nation and which, if adhered to, may bring disaster to the community." The CHARLOTTE NEWS quotes Mr. Legge's advice to the millers to "cover your requirements now," and emphasizes the uncertainty with the condemnation of "curious practices adopted by a government brazenly encroaching on the territory of private business."

The MEMPHIS COMMERCIAL APPEAL considers the advice for all the farmers to organize with the comment that it "implies an appeal from the Farm Relief Board to the farmers, a plea to the farmers to get together and relieve the relief board."

THE PORT WORTH STAR-TELEGRAM believes that "the educational work done by the Farm Board's plan will be valuable, even though the plan fails of its major endeavor." The WALLA WALLA DAILY BULLETIN, referring to Mr. Legge's advice to buy and feed, says: "Let's hope Legge is right and that his words will be followed by deeds."

THE SPRINGFIELD MASSACHUSETTS REPUBLICAN holds that "the board's recent success" means that "attacks on it at this session seem to have been called off."

THE TOPEKA DAILY CAPITAL is convinced that Chairman Legge has fought off his critics, and offers the comment: "The marketing act and the Farm Board are going through an experience common to every novel experimental project, whether concerning agriculture or any other object. They encounter resistance, opposition, skepticism and pass through a phase characteristic of experimentation in any field. What the farm marketing act must have is patient consideration, a full trial and discussion on merits. Hasty conclusions one way or another can only be prejudicial to getting results. The act may require amendment or revamping in some of its provisions. But Mr. Legge's assurance that it is basically sound is an important outgiving from the exceptionally able man who heads the board."

TOWN DOCTOR

"DOCTOR OF TOWNS" SAYS ABOUT TWO YOUNG LADIES

Two young ladies are walking down the street in opposite directions. One has on silk hose, the other cotton; but otherwise they are dressed the same.

A young man comes out of—say a tinsorial emporium, or a barber shop if you prefer. At the same time a janitor comes out onto the street from several hours work in a basement. As the two men come into the street the two young ladies pass each other, directly in front of them, the one with the silk hose going south, the one with cotton hose north.

At which way does the young man look who came out of the barber shop, and which way does the janitor cast his glances? Answer to both questions, south.

And if either or both of these young ladies look, upon which one of the young men will they bestow casual observation? The one besmeared with soot and dust, or the one who has had himself shaved and shined, shampooed and otherwise made "presentable"? The answer you know.

There are many new people going to see New Castle next summer. What are they going to see? A snappy, well dressed, "finished" town, or a community run down at the heel, in spots if not all over? Will they look "north" or "south"?

As there is no argument against quality in merchandise, so there is no alternative but to make New Castle look good, if others are to be attracted to it and you to really enjoy it.

The only difference between Cinderella of the Ash-Heap and Cinderella of the Glass-Slipper was a difference in appearance and you know which won.

Mission To Send Christmas Baskets

Preparations Being Made At Present Time For Holiday Program

As is the usual custom carried out by the City Rescue Mission, Christmas baskets will be given to the needy people of our city on Wednesday, December 24th. It is the desire of all interested in the work of the Mission that citizens assist by contributing sugar, coffee, beans, cabbage, apples, potatoes and canned goods so that each basket may be generally filled at this time.

The work in the mission grows more each day and those in charge are appreciative of the many donations coming in. One farmer recently sent a hogs head and liver which was acceptable as will be any other donations of this kind from farmers who wish to help in the work.

The Christmas entertainment to be presented by the children of the mission Sunday school is in preparation at this time and promises to be one of the very best ever held by the school. There is a wonderful amount of talent among the children in the school and under the supervision of a splendid committee in charge, an excellent program is in preparation for Tuesday evening, December 22nd at seven thirty o'clock.

The mission is still in need of clothing and especially children's shoes. Daily are the calls for such articles. Meals and nightly lodgings are still one of the big items cared for and no one calling for help at the mission is

Lieut. Pete Hillers Completes Twenty Years As Officer

Classed by friends and police associates as a model officer, Lieutenant Peter J. Hillers on Sunday will chalk up one score years of service in the New Castle police department.

He has an enviable record as an officer. During his period of work or the city he has not been absent from duty except on four occasions when death in the immediate family necessitated his absence. He has never been "on the carpet" to answer for a neglect of duty. And since the inauguration of the police roll call 14 years ago, Pete Hillers has not been tardy a single day.

Pete joined the force 22 years ago, on December 14, 1908, during the administration of the late Harry Lusk, then mayor, and Joseph Gilmore, chief of police. He was off the force for two years during Mayor Walter Tyler's term.

At the time he joined the city police Hillers was the youngest patrolman on the force. He received his early experience as a copper in the days when the force was half as big as it is today, when horses drew the patrol wagon and police methods were crude and uncertain compared to what they are today.

Told To "Move In"
Pete was born in Union township. When 22 years old a wide business depression, even bigger than the one at the present time found him out of work, the tin mill in which he had been employed having shut down for 11 months.

He applied for a job as policeman. There were no civil service exams for such jobs in those days, and it was the general belief that an elderly man was more fitted for the work. The application had been filed on a Friday and on Monday he was told the job would be his if he would move into the city. Hillers was living on West Washington street extension, two houses from the city line. He moved into the confines of New Castle and got the job.

LIEUT. PETER J. HILLERS

His First Beat

He served three years as a patrolman under Chief Gilmore before leaving the force. He was re-employed in 1913. During his service he saw service on every police beat in the city. His first beat, when a green copper, was in the Seventh Ward. Due to his size he was afterwards assigned to the office beat.

Humor is present in the record of his first arrest on his first day as a patrolman in the Seventh Ward. He had not been in the city hall building before, and when he arrived with his prisoner the sergeant, (at that time Gene Buckley was sergeant) told Hillers to take the man to a cell. The young officer did not know where the cell room was located!

During his 20 years in the department Hillers had numerous "tussles" and gripping experiences. Only once in his time did the lieutenant employ the stick. That was when a man who had killed his wife threatened the life of the officer who had confronted him.

His Recollections

One of Hillers' most important acts while an officer was the arrest of the murderer Torrence White. White, who was later electrocuted, had killed his wife and planned a getaway. He only needed five more minutes at the time when he was nabbed by Hillers on Croton avenue. White later told Hillers that but for him he would have left New Castle far behind in a short time.

On February 11, 1928, he was appointed Lieutenant. Previous to that time he was acting sergeant. Telling of the difference in police methods and the service of today from that of 20 years ago, Lieutenant Hillers recalls that he drove the horse-driven patrol wagon on numerous occasions. He remembers that the force was about one half of what it is today. In those days the force did not contain a policeman.

Twenty years ago there were 25 policemen, two sergeants and a lieutenant under the police chief. Today there are 48 policemen, three sergeants, a captain, a lieutenant and a policeman.

When Hillers joined the force policemen could respond to a call to the North Hill or Croton districts in about half an hour's time. Today the police system has reduced that time to a fraction. There were no police box telephones then and officers were obliged to enter a home to seek permission to make a call. There were no red lights on beats to send warnings to officers. The statewide teletype also was absent.

Pete will spend Sunday as usual. As an officer of the force, he has inspired the other members, and newcomers are quick to recognize his leadership.

That is all about Pete—except that he does not use tobacco in any form.

LOCAL RADIO BOYS

BROADCAST SUNDAY

John and Bert, West Pittsburgh's radio entertainers, have been advanced on WKBN's broadcasting program to Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. Their appearance had been scheduled for next Tuesday evening. PASTOR WILL RETURN

Anderson, pastor of the Gospel Tabernacle of the Christian and Missionary Alliance, and Mrs. Anderson, have spent the week at Williamsport, attending the annual prayer conference of this district. They expect to be back in New Castle this evening and will report Sunday in their church of their splendid trip over the snow covered mountains, as well as a most helpful and inspirational time at the conference.

Dr. Clendening Explains How Calories Are Found

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

E. P. ATCHISON, KAS.: "Many of us know what a calorie is, but you tell us how it is ascertained?"

Answer: A calorie is a unit of heat measurement, and in physiology applies to the amount of heat energy released in an animal body by a given amount of food.

The fundamental work on the question was done many years ago. Perhaps we should say that the first step was taken soon after the discovery of oxygen in the latter part of the eighteenth century. Crawford, in England, put a live guinea pig in a closed cabinet. The guinea pig's body was immersed in water. The temperature of the water was determined at the beginning of the experiment. The amount of oxygen it used was measured. Crawford stated that for every 100 ounces of oxygen the animal used the water temperature was raised 1.7 degrees.

The guinea pig was not injured. Animals used in these experiments are not harmed. The principle Crawford used was later adopted for the machine used to measure the heat production (which means number of calories) contained in food stuffs.

A cabinet called a calorimeter is used. It is so arranged that air can be admitted in exact amounts, and all the gases coming away from it are exactly measured. It is enclosed so as not to lose any heat. The animal—dog or man—whose calories are to be measured is placed in the inner chamber. By an elaborate mechanism all the heat generated from its body is determined. The machine is so accurate that the amount of heat generated by an electric current inside the chamber can be measured. The calculated theoretical amount of heat generated by this current and the actual results of the calorimeter are the same within a small decimal point.

To determine the number of calories generated by a definite amount of food is thus fundamentally simple. A man is enclosed in the calorimeter. The food is given to him. After he eats and absorbs it the amount of heat he generates from it is measured.

Fundamentally simple, but the details are very complicated. A nutrition experiment is extremely laborious. But it can be done, and in its present state of development this department represents one of the most exact and dependable parts of physiology.

The final result of many experiments has demonstrated that if a man is fed a hundred grams of carbohydrates he produces about 400 calories of heat. Allowance has to be made for food not absorbed, and all this is carefully calculated in, but the complete figures are as above. For protein the amount is about the same as for carbohydrates, and for fats it is about 900 calories per 100 grams.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Four pamphlets and six articles by Dr. Clendening can now be obtained by sending 10 cents in coin for each pamphlet and 2 cents in coin for each article, with a self-addressed, stamped envelope, to Dr. Logan Clendening, in care of the Pennsylvania State Association, 1435 East Twelfth street, Cleveland, O. The articles: "Normal Diet," "List of Books for Mothers," "Bedwetting," "Diet of the Expectant Mother," "Ear Troubles" and "Tuberculosis."

Church Addition Is Now Completed

St. Anthony's Church Of Bessemer Has Special Program Sunday

(Special To The News)

BESSEMER, Dec. 13.—After weeks of effort, the new addition to the St. Anthony's Catholic church has finally been completed and will be formally consecrated according to the rites of the church Sunday morning at 10:30. Spurr of Pittsburgh, who has been in Bessemer on previous occasions and is both well known and liked in this parish.

The work has been in charge of the following building committee: John Szelek, Anthony Samsa, Matt Samsa, Joseph Wallace, W. H.

Spanish Government Takes Measures To Prevent Rebellion

Revolutionary Flames Spread On Frontier—Rebel Ranks Are Increased

(International News Service)

MADRID, Dec. 13.—Stringent measures to halt the spread of revolutionary flames, which erupted suddenly at the important frontier center of Jaca on the Franco-Spanish frontier yesterday, were called into force by the Spanish government today as further reports alleged that rebellion prevailed in a large part of the country north of Madrid.

Unconfirmed and meagre dispatches filtering into Madrid this morning through a rigid censorship clamped on by Premier Ber-guer's government asserted that rebel troops operated not only in the Jaca sector, but were marching on Huesca, 35 miles to the south. Their ranks, according to information, were speedily augmented by peasantry and civilians.

Simultaneously rumors circulated in Madrid that the garrison at Vigo, important seaport directly west of Jaca and a short distance north of the Portuguese frontier, had joined the revolutionary movement. With the district of Aragon also reported under rebel control, the entire northern part of Spain thus has been linked with the uprisings.

Dilks Is Subject Of Feature Story In B. & O. Magazine

Article Tells Of Struggle To Become Strong While Frail, Sickly Boy

Lin Dilks, local long distance runner, who holds a number of records for extreme long distances, is the subject of a feature story in the B. and O. magazine, in the sports section edited by Don Riley.

The story which is illustrated, tells how the New Castle B. and O. fireman struggled against odds to become strong while a boy.

He was ordered by his doctor to take long walks, and gradually he turned from this to running, slowly at first, and later increasing the speed and distance.

His health kept pace with his speed, the story goes, and soon he was able to run 20 miles with ease. He was more than 30 years of age, before he began to realize that he was running better than ever.

In 1927, he established an amateur record for 90 miles, running the distance in 17 hours flat. Numerous other records fell before his steady plugging stride and in June 1928, he established a new world's record for 100 miles, covering the distance in 18 hours and 12 minutes.

Inter-Class Floor Games Commence At Union High

Senior Boys Bow In Opener
With Junior Quintet;
Sophomores Play

SCHOOL HAPPENINGS REPORTED IN BRIEF

Inaugurating Union Township high school's 1930-31 inter-class league basketball schedule, the well-drilled junior and senior class teams of the school met this week in a noon exhibition before a host of spectators. The juniors won, 13 to 9. The sophomore 2 team also defeated the sophomore 1 floormen this week, 14 to 7. Games will continue through the winter.

Donald Lanigan, member of the varsity squad refereed both games.

Rules Published

The rules for the forthcoming county oratorical and musical contest have been published, Union authorities announce. The county contest is a preliminary for the competition to be held later in the spring.

Name Team Leaders

Hazel Smith was elected captain and Laura Jenkins was named student manager of Union's girls' varsity team when the members met recently. The girls opposed the Union alumni maidens in their opening engagement of the season last night. (Result told on sports page.) The girls' reserve team also played the strong Princeton sextet.

Choose Flower, Motto

Choosing their class colors, flower and motto was the task the ninth graders completed at a meeting this week. Colors selected were green and silver; the tulip, as their flower, and "One Step at a Time and Always Forward," as the motto.

Rare Photos Shown

Chemistry Club Votes

Officers for Union's chemistry club were elected at the recent meeting of the group. Those named to positions were Meldon McConnell, president; Frank Jaskolka, vice president; Howard Kelso, secretary; Clyde Davidson, treasurer, and Bert Coates, sergeant-at-arms.

Art Students Busy

That money for club activities might be raised, the art club is making various articles. So far they have made clever memorandums.

SPIRELLA CORSETRY

Banquet December 17

Arrangements are well under way for the banquet being tendered Union's championship football team by the school and friends on Wednesday evening, December 17. It is customary for the Parent-Teacher chapter of the township to serve it.

See Newspaper Made

Writing of the inspection trip through the plant of The News, which the membership of Union's junior class enjoyed this week, Virginia Wallace, says:

The junior class of Union made a visit to The News office on Wednesday. The class went in the school bus, with Miss Catherine Elder and Mr. Leonard, teachers, in charge.

On the arrival of Bart Richards of The News staff, we were told of the pictures and the artistic work in the lobby. He explained the pictures which relate the history of printing. Then Mr. Richards took the class up to the mezzanine floor from where all could get a good view of the press.

Next the class entered a room where reporters were busy at work. An interesting thing pointed out was the tele-type. From this room the class entered the composing room, where many men were at work. There we saw the lin-o-type, a new machine to many of us.

The paper was just going to press and from the rate the papers were printed it made us all wonder how anyone could be brilliant enough to invent such a machine. The trip was made very interesting by the descriptions and explanations made by Mr. Richards.

Seeks Relatives Of Civil War Times

The police department is in receipt of a letter from Mrs. J. Barnett of Oakland, Cal., in which she tells of being the widow of Presley Barnett, a veteran of the civil war, whose people resided here in the civil war times. She desires to get in touch with some of them in order to straighten out the matter of a pension. She asks the police to get in touch with any of the Barnetts or people by the name of Irwin, who were friends of the Barnetts in those times. One of the Irwins enlisted from here in the civil war and was the youngest drummer boy of the war. He died some time ago in California. If there are persons familiar with the data desired, they are asked to get in touch with the police department.

Peter's Adventures

Peter never said what the insects expected him to do. When he told the Red Ants they ought to be ashamed of being so lazy, they looked so surprised that the boy almost laughed out loud. They had supposed the young Two-Legs would jump at the chance of living a life of ease.

"And I don't like to fight, either, except when I have to!" added Peter, just for good measure. The Red Ants' surprise turned to disgust.

"Oh well, if that's the way you feel about it, there's nothing more to be said!" remarked the leader. "If we can't come to an agreement, there's no use hanging around. You are free to go your own way, boy, but let me warn you, since you choose to cast your lot in with the Black Ants, you are our enemy from now on. We shall do our best to take you captive, but this much I promise you: We shall take you alive, and force you to use your trusty spike in our defense!"

"That's very kind of you," remarked Peter, sarcastically. "But it will be time enough to tell me what to do with my spike when you have caught me. Say, what's up below? What are your warriors doing now, Redskins?"

Ever since the fighting had ceased, nothing much had taken place on the battlefield. In fact, about the only sound that broke the silence was the shuffling of hundreds of little feet as troop after troop of Red Ants marched into the invaded hill and out again with their spoils. Now, however, there was a great commotion at the front gate. Shrieks of fright mingled with cries of triumph. Keeping one eye upon the Redskins to make sure they did not break their word and rush him, cautiously Peter peeped over the top of the hill.

Rockne Welcomed To New York City

Mayor Jimmy Walker, Officially Welcomes Famous Coach Of Irish

ALL-STAR TO BATTLE GIANTS

(International News Service) NEW YORK, Dec. 13.—"Rock, you're welcome anywhere in the world, but you're more welcome in New York than anywhere else, except perhaps your home town."

In these words, dapper Jimmy Walker, mayor of New York, today welcomed Knute K. Rockne, Notre Dame's football coach, to the city shortly after Rockne's arrival to direct his all-star team tomorrow in a benefit against against Benny Friedman's professional New York Giants.

The welcome was voiced on city hall steps before a packed gathering of applauding spectators. The reception to Rockne and his team was held an hour before Albert Einstein, world's foremost scientist, was to be received.

Rockne announced that the original four horsemen would start in tomorrow's game and that Frank Carideo, head quarterback of this year's Notre Dammers, would also play.

"And if Benny Friedman's Giants think they're going to have a lot of fun tomorrow," Rockne concluded, "they're in for one surprise. Tomorrow's game will not be a mere spectacle."

Youngstown Police Continue Big Drive Against Vice Dens

Mayor Heffernan Demands
Youngstown Be Cleaned Up, While He Is In Office

(International News Service) YOUNGSTOWN, O., Dec. 13.—Spurred by Mayor Joseph Heffernan's declaration, "The drive against vice and bootlegging will continue as long as I am mayor," members of the police force, under the leadership of Police Chief Paul Lyden, today redoubled their campaign against vice and bootlegging.

Almost simultaneously with the request of the Ministerial association that in view of the results of the ten-day campaign recently concluded by Lyden the offensive against crime be made permanent. The mayor's statement was issued to the police force and citizens.

The Rev. G. Merrill Lennox and Rev. Llewellyn A. Owen, representing the ministerial committee to investigate crime, carried the association's demands to the mayor. "From all indications, I observe there has been an improvement," Heffernan said. "I am willing to be patient when I am convinced the police are making an effort."

First Pay Day In Long Time For These Men Friday

First Section Of Unemployed
Delegation Gets $708.18
From City

There were 84 men with smiles yesterday in city hall as it was the first time in a long time that they had called at a pay window to receive money for labor. They were the men who were selected by Councilman Stanley Treasurer from the mayor's relief committee's list of unemployed.

According to Louis McClung, treasurer, not all of the men put in full time for some reason, perhaps of their own, but the fact remains that the city paid out a total of $708.18 to the 84 men, at the rate of 35 cents an hour. They were the first unemployed to go to work widening "The Narrows."

When they were selected 100 letters were sent out, informing them all to report for work last Monday. Eighty-one showed up the first day and the report shows that 84 men were given employment as additional men showed up during the last two days.

Some were aged and others who had just turned the voting age. Yesterday their one thought was "When will we get another three days?" Several of them expressed the wish that the city could find enough work for all the unemployed but recognized themselves this would be scarcely possible.

(International News Service) EAST LIVERPOOL, O., Dec. 13.—Former Municipal Clerk A. Earl Edwards, charged with embezzling

$13,000 in public funds, today was awaiting a preliminary hearing on the charge scheduled before Municipal Judge Harry Brokaw next Tuesday.

Attorney Blaine H. Cochran has been retained by Edwards, who is free on $15,000 bond. Mrs. Mary B. Edwards, his wife; Mrs. Maude C. Beane, his sister; Mrs. Nettie Vilson, an aunt, all of East Liverpool, and A. B. Murdoch, his brother-in-law, of Wellsville, signed the bail piece.

Edwards resigned as clerk of court

Democrats Prepare To Convert Depression Into Campaign Material

Are Asking Tremendous Increases In Expenditures Which Will Deplete Treasury

Secure Thirty-Five Million Dollar Increase For Drought Relief Alone

(By ARTHUR C. WIMER, Special Washington Correspondent of The New Castle News.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 13.—National politics are rapidly assuming the picture of Willie coaxing Johnny to shake a few coins out of Johnny's penny bank so that Willie can go to Mother a little while later and wonder with wide blue eyes how in the world Johnny is going to get his bank filled.

A childish analogy—perhaps. But childish or not, it's an example of good politics. An example of how the Democrats are preparing to skillfully convert the current depression into excellent campaign material.

Termed Adequate
A visit to the Senate agriculture and forestry committee the other day served to illustrate quite vividly how adroit Willie is being in persuading Johnny to let some pennies slip out of his bank.

The committee had come together to consider the proposal endorsed by President Hoover that $25,000,000 be appropriated for distribution to farmers suffering from the drought and other depression agents. The bill calling for the $25,000,000 had been labelled by relief experts as "adequate."

But the Democrats thought otherwise. In full force they turned out. In fact, every witness who appeared before the committee, with the exception of agriculture department experts, was a Democrat.

"Two-bit economy," roared tall and handsome Senator Tom Connolly, Democrat of Texas, at the committee. He was speaking of the $25,000,000 proposal advanced by the administration.

"Two-bit economy," the Senator shouted. "What we need is $60,000,000." Other Democrats told the committee they thought likewise.

So the committee was persuaded. A few of the Republican members, even, talked with bright eyes of this gallant gesture. The committee shoved into the background the Hoover figure of $25,000,000 and told the Senate $60,000,000 ought to be made available.

Won't Understand Increase
Now it isn't at all difficult to see going about over the country a few months from now and wondering why the treasury department vaults are empty. Mr. Connolly will tell the people he can't understand why an increase in income tax was essential. He will forget that he urged the agriculture and forestry committee to spend $60,000,000 when Mr. Hoover warned that a $335,000,000 deficit was in the offing unless economy were practiced.

"Why, it must be the Republicans' fault that we've no money in Washington," Connolly will lecture. "I think if you're wise you'll elect a Democratic administration and a Democratic president. They won't increase income taxes. They won't report empty vaults."

And so it goes, all down through the list of Democrats. Senator David I. Walsh virtually gave away the Democratic scheme this week when he talked in the Senate of the leadership the Democrats must assume in the drive for bigger and better relief appropriations. The Senator threw his hands heavenward and shouted in righteous indignation when berating the Republicans for their stinginess. But, added Mr. Walsh, we don't want increased taxation unless the Republicans haven't enough money in the treasury vaults to pay this relief bill.

It is rather odd to understand how Mr. Walsh, with the knowledge that the country is facing a $335,000,000 deficit, could demand bigger relief sums and at the same time hope aloud that no increase in tax rate would follow. It isn't so odd when one knows the man and remembers that with the same breath he consumed in hoping no increase would be necessary he voiced the belief that larger taxes are better than no bread for the poor man. Why, said Mr. Walsh, if our city mayors would oppose bonds or increased taxes to help the needy as the President now is doing, there would be a revolution!

Blame It On Republicans
Thus Senator Walsh, most outstanding New Englander in the Senate, paved the way for him and a sufficient number of his colleagues to vote for increased income tax rates. He will vote to increase the tax of New Englanders in order to feed others, for New England has requested no federal aid. Then he will go home next year and tell his New England friends that they are paying higher taxes because the Republicans are in power.

Someone has offered the theory that a guilty conscience provokes blustering defense, and perhaps this is the explanation of the vitriolic attack Walsh directed at Mr. Hoover the other day after the President had told newspapermen that certain Senators seeking larger relief appropriations were playing politics. Walsh filled the Senate chamber with caustic criticism of the Chief Executive. And then he went a bit farther, toward procuring the cooperation of the Democrats in his move to submerge the administration of Senator Joseph Robinson, Democratic leader, who has been cooperating with Mr. Hoover in relief efforts.

It may also have been guilty conscience that sent Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi to his feet with an oily denunciation of Mr. Hoover and Senator Kenneth McKellar of Tennessee out of his chair, with stuttering threats against the President. With convenient agility, they forgot the many occasions when they had said Mr. Hoover was playing politics and seized upon the President's statement with an avidity torn of pure selfishness.

The whole mess of pettiness simmers down into one definite intention. The Democrats want relief funds in excess of those recommended by the administration and by relief experts. They want increased income tax. Then they want a chance in 1932 to tell the country how the Republican administration squandered taxpayers' money and was forced to increase the tax levy. Probably their "wants" will be filled.

French Woman Faces New Charges Placed By Those Swindled

Charges Of Swindling Creditors Out Of Millions Of Francs; Faced By Woman

(International News Service)

PARIS, Dec. 13.—New charges of swindling creditors out of several million francs were lodged today against Madame Marthe Hanau, France's so-called "female Ponzi" whose spectacular financial exploits startled the country several years ago and brought her into court on charges of embezzlement.

On complaint of one of her creditors, police marched to the offices of her financial publication Gazette Du France and were met at the entrance by Mme. Hanau, who had been forewarned of their approach.

"You have no right to enter here," she told them after locking all doors "I am an honest woman."

Despite her energetic resistance, the police smashed in the doors of the place and impounded all her books. Examination of her accounts resulted in the new swindling charges.

Placed Under Arrest
The financial difficulties of Mme. Hanau have been under the scrutiny of the courts since 1928. The names of prominent government officials and financiers were dragged into the investigation which began when complaints were lodged that her "get-rich-quick" schemes had resulted in heavy losses to investors.

Mme. Hanau was placed under arrest, but aroused the sympathy of many of her creditors by starting a "hunger strike" as a protest against what she termed the unwarranted prosecution launched against her.

While her trial was in progress, she formulated a "five year plan" for reimbursing her creditors for their losses, and the majority of them signified their willingness to recoup their losses in small amounts over a long period.

Hollywood Visitor Finds Gag Men Prosper, Old Stars Starve

The wisecrackers who used to put a kick in the columns of the old home town newspapers are now scribbling jokes and snappy comebacks for the talkies at dignified salaries, while one time silent film heroes and heroines have been relegated to the lowest scale of society in the movie incubator, according to a Hollywood visitor here.

E. B. Eisenberg, promotion representative for a Hollywood talkie producer, who stopped at the Fountain Inn today, said the business conditions in the movie capital are bad. He said the New Castle district has not felt the depression as bad as some of the centers in the middle west, particularly in Wisconsin, in the Milwaukee district, where his permanent home is located.

Telling about the movie town which he left recently, Eisenberg, who spent three years on the Billy West comedy lots, declared the silent pictures will never return. And with their demise many old time movie stars have capitulated to the new order of things.

The news writers from the entire country are flocking to Hollywood to try their hand at writing gags, bright sayings which some movie fans attribute to their favorite stars.

Basketball Team Players Are Hurt

Car Overtakes As Players Are Nearing Bessemer Fri- day Night

ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 13.—Five members of the Ellwood City high school basketball squad escaped severe injuries when their car upset near Bessemer, early last night. The players in the car were Burt Rossman, Don Cloak, Mike Dudick and Art Smith of the varsity and David Nye, a substitute.

Rossman was driving the car, when they were approaching the railroad crossing near Bessemer. The road continued to the right on the other side of the tracks but Rossman turned left. Evidently something was wrong with the car. The wheel came off and the car was forced to the side and the axle got caught on a railroad tie causing the car to upset.

Art Smith was the only one that was seriously hurt, his hand requiring five stitches. The rest were merely bruised about the head and knees. All of these boys played ball in spite of the shock they received. It was a losing battle, though.

New Plan May Be Adopted Here For Graduating Class

ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 13.—The Lincoln High school plans to innovate something new for future graduating classes. Principal Bell has pointed out that most colleges are doing away with a speaker at commencement exercises. In place of this a play, related to the occasion, is presented. Another idea was to have several members of the class selected as speakers, by the faculty. These would be chosen according to popularity and oratorical ability. The class would select the one to represent the members at commencement. This new plan, of course, is left to the graduating class of the Ellwood High school this coming January, and will not go into effect against the wishes of the class members.

IN CONFERENCE.
The modern business man is a Gang Thinker. Put a proposition up to him and if it amounts to anything he immediately rushes over to the Conference Room and goes into a huddle.
When the dewey-eyed stenographer informs you that Mr. Blah is "in conference," don't tell her she is lying like a gas-meter. The likelihood is she's speaking the truth.

Big Business apportions its daylight hours among the conference room, the dining room, the wash room and the locker room.
I bunked with Big Business for two long years and I know whereof I babble.

DEEP SEA THINKERS.
The conference habit is infectious. It has spread from Big Business to Politics, so that no procedure of importance may be effected today unless a Commission first is named to paw, hem and haw over it.
The stupidity of the thing is beautifully exemplified by what happened nine years ago when the post-war depression hit the country. Warren Gamaliel Harding was in the saddle at the time and he immediately called into consultation leading men and women of the country—economists, industrialists, labor leaders—The Horn Rim Brigade, boys and girls with bulgy brows, seamed by cogitation. The object of the conference was to relieve existing unemployment and to safeguard the future against a recurrence of so deplorable a situation.

Owen D. Young, Sammy Gompers, Charlie Schwab, Herbert Hoover and Ida Tarbell were among the deep-sea thinkers summoned. They perfected a set of plans, had them approved and then dispersed, going to their several homes in peace, light-footed and with happy hearts.

Nothing was ever done with the elaborate plans until the other day when Herbert Hoover, who headed the Harding conference nine years ago, got them down from the shelf, dusted them off and submitted them for the consideration of the current conference, now busily engaged in solving the Insolvency of the Apple Sellers.

SELF CONVICTED.
A man who answers to the name of Leroy Van Dunk went out for a stroll along the countryside last Sunday. He was accompanied by his 8-year-old son, Edwin. A big bald-headed eagle swooped down, lunging at the lad, barely missing him. Fearing that the eagle's intentions were not honorable, Mister Van Dunk slew the bird. He then strolled with Edwin over the game warden's house, where in a few succinct words he narrated the incident. Upon the conclusion of his tale the game warden imposed a "civil fine" of 27 bucks.

"So live that some day you may become a game warden."

NEW CASTLE PASSERS DEFEAT WILKINSBURG

New Castle Quintet Opens 1930-31 Floor Season On Friday With 26-16
Victory

Wanio Leads Offense Scoring Four Goals From Field

New Castle high school basketball team opened the 1930-31 floor season on Friday night at the Senior high school gymnasium by defeating Wilkesburg high, 26-16 before several hundred fans.

Francis Wanio with four field goals and Nick Uram who scored twice and played a good defensive game looked good for the locals.

The local high school quintet during the first two periods appeared somewhat ragged and couldn't get going. The first quarter was slow with neither team taking many chances. Wilkesburg played a close defensive game in the opening period. The first quarter ended in a 5-5 deadlock.

McAuley made good two fouls and Rowe one. The other two markers were scored by Andy Lasky who caged the ball through the hoops in the first quarter. Rial tallied twice and Mack accounted a foul for the visitors five points.

New Castle showed up much better in the second quarter, scoring eight points to two for Wilkesburg. In this chapter Wanio and Nick Uram were the scorers for New Castle. Both Uram and Wanio found the hoops for two field goals apiece for the locals 8 points. The best Wilkesburg could do was secure two points. Mack caged a field goal at the start of the quarter.

Locals Defense Good
The locals appeared like the New Castle of last season in the third quarter. The defense was functioning to perfection.

Wilkesburg was able to register but one goal during the remaining two quarters. This score came in the final minutes of play with most of the third stringers in the game. While New Castle scored 5 points in the third chapter, the visitors came through with 2 more markers as the third quarter ended with New Castle on top, 16-8.

Wanio annexed his third tally in this period with Rowe also securing a basket and Shaffer a foul. The final period saw nearly all the second and third string players in action. New Castle accounted for eight more points in the final period with Wilkesburg acquiring five fouls and a field goal for its 16 points.

J. Uram, Wanio, and Marvin scored from the court in this chapter. New Castle's other two points came as a result of fouls by Shaffer and Lasky. Mack scored Wilkesburg's only field goal during this half in the final minutes of play.

The New Castle substitutes who saw action were William and John Grommes, Cooper, Ostrosky, Winter, J. Uram, Marvin, and Shaffer. Taking into consideration the fact that New Castle only had four days in which to practice before this game, the locals appeared impressive in the opening contest. Mawhinney and Fusia were the best for the losers.

The summary of the game follows:
New Castle 26 Wilkesburg 16.
Rowe 2 Shuker
Wanio 4 Rial
Lasky 1 Mawhinney
McAuley 1 Fusia
N. Uram 1 Mack
Score by quarters:

New Castle 5 8 5 8—26
Wilkesburg 5 2 2 7—16

While Battalino was boxing Chocolate, Willie Stribling was busy winning a 10-round decision from Tuffy Griffiths in Chicago. Stribling and Griffiths fought before 20,000 people and the Chocolate-Battalino bout in Madison Square garden drew $70,000.

The joint rules committee met yesterday at New York City and abolished the sacrifice fly which means that when the batter lifts a fly to the outfield and enables a runner to advance a base he will not be credited with a sacrifice and will be charged with a time at bat.

Soldier Dombrowski who beat Jimmy Thomas after the latter had outpointed Johnny Datto lasted only three rounds against Jackie Rodgers at Pittsburgh last night. Rodgers sent Dombrowski to the floor four times in the third after playing possum in the first two rounds.

SMITH WINS GAME
IN FINAL PERIOD

Union High School basketball team after holding Zelenople High even for three quarters of the game, fell to pieces in the final quarter and allowed the Butler Countians, to eke out an 18 to 13 victory at the Union High gym last night. It was the second game of the year for Union, the Boyd machine, having defeated Evans City in the opening set.

Both teams played a good guarding game. Smith of Zelenople won the game for the visitors in the final few minutes of play, by caging two long shots from the center of the court. Union was weakened in the final quarter by Augustyn being put out of the game via the four personal foul rule. With Augustyn out of the lineup the Unionites didn't look any too good.

Coach Sager brought a clever passing team to Union. The visitors were very good on long shots.

At the end of the first half the score was deadlocked at 8-8. The end of the third period found the teams still tied at 11-11. Zelenople shot into the lead in the final period, with Union only making two points.

Smith and Ziegler led the scoring for the Zelenople team, the former caging the ball four times, and Ziegler having a pair of baskets. For Union the work of Zarembo, Mateja, Augustyn and Sniezek featured.

The summary:

Stribling Wins From Griffiths

William Stribling, May Be Recognized As Heavyweight Champion

PLAN TO DETHRONE
MAX SCHMELING

By CLAIR KELLY
International News Service Sports
Writer

CHICAGO, Dec. 13. — Georgia seems to have another world's champion today to hail alongside it's Bobby Jones in the person of Lieut. William Lawrence Stribling of the United States Air Corps.

The battling aviator by his ten round victory over Tuffy Griffiths in the Stadium ring last night, won at least a preliminary endorsement by the National Boxing Association as the new world's heavyweight champion.

May Be Recognized
Gen. John V. Clinchin, president of the National association, in an edict a few hours before the stadium fight, declared he would recognize the winner as a successor to Max Schmeling. The latter's title will be vacated by Clinchin because of failure to sign for a titular match and if a vote from member states of the N. B. A. approves the coronation of Stribling, he will be regognized as champion in thirty two states.

Stribling won five of the ten rounds and if there was a shade in the second and fifth frames it belonged to the perennial schoolboy from the South. While the fight seemed fairly even going into the eighth, Stribling's superiority began to show and when he took the last three rounds a-flying there could be no question about the verdict.

Griffith pressed Stribling every minute of the battle, but experience and his ability in close quarters proved winning factors for the newly recognized champion.

LARGEST GATE IN HISTORY OF GAME

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
International News Service Sports
Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 13.—Army and Navy's football eleven, whipped into a grim fighting pitch by a tremendous and unprecedented roar, will battle each other from pillar to post at Yankee Stadium this afternoon in a glamorous, post-season charity game that will draw the greatest "gate" in football history. The box office in-take will exceed $600,000, and may reach $750,000, and every dime of the proceeds will go to the unemployed.

It promises to be an epic struggle, a tingling battle to a football season replete with thrills. It brings the Army and Navy together on the gridiron for the first time since 1927 when the two service schools of Uncle Sam broke relations. It is certain to be a clean, hard fought game for the players on both sides have been worked up to a higher surge of enthusiasm than for any other contest in which they participated during the regular season.

Fully 70,000 spectators—maybe close to 80,000—will view the spectacle. There will be present an inspiring audience, the uniformed cadets and midshipmen, major generals, admirals, business men, politicians, social registerites, movie actresses, the mayor of New York, the governors of nearby states, United States senators, sports luminaries and the dyed-in-the-wool football fans. Tickets have ranged in price up to $50 for a single ticket and the show promises to be worth the money.

Battalino Wins Over Chocolate

Battling Battalino, Defends
His Featherweight
Crown, In Great Battle

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Dec. 13.—Bat Battalino today retained his world's featherweight boxing title after a thrilling rally in a fight in which he gained the decision over Kid Chocolate of Cuba.

Floored for a count of eight and apparently hopelessly beaten in the first round, the Connecticut boxer rose to battle his way to a decision at the end of 15 rounds.

At the start of the bout Chocolate started shooting his right at the champion's jaw and the challenger finally got over a right to the chin that dazed Battalino. He got up with his legs reeling and eyes puffed but weathered the storm through the second round to return strong and aggressive in the third. The champion began battering and bobbing offensive after the second round and at the end of the fight Chocolate was a weary challenger.

Bessemer Five Trims Ellwood

Spring Surprise On Tube Town Boys, By More Than Doubling Score

GAME IS PLAYED AT BESSEMER GYM

Bessemer High school handed the strong Ellwood City quintet a surprise on the Bessemer floor last evening, when they defeated the Tube City boys by a score of 22-10.

Bessemer entered the game with their opponents heavy favorites, but after the first quarter, there seemed little doubt in the minds of the spectators of the outcome, and the youths from the western end of the county, proceeded to run up a decisive score.

The defense of the Bessemer quintet proved too strong for the Ellwood City boys to penetrate, and only three field goals were made, two of them long shots.

Bessemer on the other hand, netted ten baskets.

Grist and Puromaki were the outstanding stars for Bessemer, while Captain Cloak of Ellwood City stood out as the strongest player on the Tube town team.

The lineup and score: Bessemer: Zeigler, F.; (C) Stanish, Smith, F.; Puromaki, 3. Cloak (C); C.; Grist, 2. Dudich, G.; Stanley, 2. Cavalier, G.; Afric, 2. Substitutions—Bessemer, Rossman, Kennedy, Forsythe, Latiano, E. Smith; Bessemer—Pienik, Swanson, Sarbovich, Mehochic, Kemikmen.

These Halfbacks Stars Of Season, Former Michigan Ace Points Out

By JOHN MAULBETSCH
All-American Half-back—1914
Written Especially for General Press
And New Castle News

For the first time in four years, those who delve into the football form sheets in search of outstanding talent are without a heroic half-back around whose stalwart shoulders they can drape the royal robes with any great degree of unanimity. To be sure there is no lack of luminaries at these important positions, as a perusal of the performances on gridirons throughout the length and breadth of the country this season will prove, but nevertheless there are no Cagles or Grange for nomination by acclamation.

During his three years of service, football and military, the sorrel-topped Christian Keener Cagle saved those who would cross-into gridiron greatness endless arguments by performing in such a manner for the West Point Cadets that there was little room left for disagreement. He was a standout in 1927, 1928 and 1929.

Prior to Cagle's triumphal entry, the other redhead, Grange of Illinois, was a big aid in preserving peace among those who hoist the heroes on the pedestal, by history-making exploits in 1923, 1924 and 1925 that won him immortality with out a dissenting voice.

As there was something of a comparative void in the 1926 season, between the reign of Grange and Cagle, so there was likewise an absence this year of an ace half-back standing head and shoulders above his contemporaries, in popular opinion at least.

Next season may continue the cycle with another Grange, Cagle or Jim Thorpe emblazoning his name across the football horizon to win undying fame. Only the gods of the gridiron know his identity, but right now he may be receiving his Freshman letter at some large institution.

Battles of W. V. W.
I say a large institution advisedly, because as a general thing it is the back with a strong supporting cast who is able to perform in a spectacular manner and before metropolitan gatherings, both of which are almost necessities to establish him as a star.

In the smaller schools it is seldom possible for a back with sufficient assistance to enable him to show at his best, of the opposition is not of high enough calibre to attract more than passing attention to his deeds.

If he shines against mediocre opposition it is looked upon as nothing extraordinary, and any brilliant performance against possibly one or two strong opponents, at best, is praise.

Southern Heroes
The South again produced a number of outstanding representatives who held their own in inter-sectional competition and these boasted their share of classy halfbacks. John Henry (Flash) Suther, of Alabama, elicited much favorable comment by his consistently good work, especially by his feat of ripping the strong Kentucky line to pieces, as did Don Zimmerman, of Tulane, one of Dixie's outstanding eleven. "Buddy" Hackman of Tennessee; Dickens and Chandler of Georgia; Bill Murray, of Duke and "Shipwreck" Kelly, of Kentucky, also stood high in the experts' estimations, although Kelly was handicapped somewhat by injuries.

In the southwest, "Cy" Leland, of Texas Christian, made good use of his speed, coupled with a knack of playing football, to enjoy another successful season, while Weller, of Haskell, attracted more attention to the Indian school by his play.

The far west produced Christensen of Utah, as its standard bearer, another bumper crop of halfbacks was harvested on the Pacific coast, with Stud Stennett, of St. Mary's, providing a sample of their caliber against Fordham for the edification of the elite east. His kicking, passing and all-around work played a big part in the coast team's victorious invasion. Johnny Kitzmiller, of Oregon; Carl Ellingsen, of Washington; and Ernie Pinckert of Southern California, also come in for plenty of recognition in that section, the latter excelling particularly at blocking.

Jim Murphy of Fordham, ranked as one of the east's leading scorers and one of the big threats in the Ram backfield, with Donner of Dartmouth; Heller, of Pitt and Lou Klyn of Navy, rated high in their section, where quarterbacks and fullbacks appeared to grab more of the glory than their invaluable assistants.

Another danger connected with takin' chances at rail crossin's is that th' nurse is liable t' be purty an' you'll not be able t' leave th' hospital for weeks or mebbe months.

Two Girls March Stars In Swimming And Golfing

By JACK SORDS

By JACK SORDS

March saw Purdue university conclude its second great feat, winning the Western conference basketball championship unbeaten. Purdue, the autumn before had swept to the Western conference football title without losing a game.

Helene Madison, coast swimming sensation, lived March sport news by setting world records for 100 and 220-yard free style swims on March 17.

Earlier, on March 8, another girl held the spotlight when young Virginia Van Wie defeated Maureen Orouett, veteran star, for the Florida East Coast women's golf title. It was the third time Virginia had won the bauble.

The same day Babe Ruth gave the baseball fans a thrill by signing a two-year contract with the New York Yankees for $80,000 a year. On March 24 Johnny Risko gained a decision over Vittorio Campolo in New York. Ardi, oh, yes, Primo Carnera continued his "triumphs" over American second and third-rate heavies.

The Decision

The court held with the auctioneer.
The judges reasoned thus:
A minimum price set upon an article means a condition of sale that the offer meet the minimum price or go above it. Any offer made by a bidder, to be valid, must meet the condition stated, whether the auctioneer forget about it or not.

NEW YORK STOCKS

Heavy Selling Orders
Mark Market Trading

By W. S. COUSINS
International News Service Financial Editor

NEW YORK, Dec. 13.—A flood of selling orders for the principal industrial and utility stocks in the first hour today forced prices down another notch from Friday's closing levels. Many of the favorites dipped to the year's lowest prices.
U. S. Steel leading the way with a 2-point drop to 137 1/4. Consolidated Gas and General Electric also sold at the bottom prices of the present move, as also did United Corporation, North American and other well-known utilities. New York Central led the rails to the lower levels.
The market was unsettled at the outset by the week-end trade reviews, which showed that the continued drops in commodity prices was restraining trade recovery. Once again the bullish forces were called upon to absorb large blocks of the best grade stocks offered for sale at the lowest prices of the year. A roll-call of the stocks breaking through to new low ground would include many of the favorites in the Steel, Oil, Copper, Gas and Electric Light Power, Equipment and Railroad shares.
Consolidated Gas, for example,

broke under 81 for a loss of about 2 points. Loews under 46 showed a loss of 2 1/2. American Can dropped off 2 1/2 to 108 1/2. Sears Roebuck 1 1/2 to 48; New York Central Railroad about 2 points at 114 1/2. The Standard Oil of New York and California sold at the lowest prices in five years. Trans-America, the holding company for large bank and insurance interests, was again under pressure and lost 1 1/2 to 10 1/2.

Stocks of the New York City Traction companies were freely sold around the low prices of the year.
Interboro Rapid Transit was and the leader of the downward move and sold off about 5 points at 21 1/2.
Brooklyn Manhattan Transit lost 1 1/2 and the bonds of the Transit lines also lost ground. Burns Brothers Coal common, which lost 28 points yesterday, were fairly steady, but the preferred lost nearly 7 points at 79.

The wheat market held steady, but Cotton broke 10 points. In the foreign exchange market the Spanish Peseta fell 26 points as the result of the revolution in Madrid. The bond market was again under pressure, which principal weakness in foreign Government bonds, Industrial convertible and American Rails.

party, Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt and party, Mayor "Jimmy"
Walker and party, Knute Rockne, coach of Notre Dame, the Yale and Harvard football teams and a host of other notables.

Enthusiasm flamed high as game-time approached. There was a lot of good natured bantering as the Army mule and the Navy goat were given a little walking exercise along the side-lines. The mule was very balky kicking up his heels petulantly whenever anybody tried to ride him.

A big splash of color in the right-field bleachers, where "Babe" Ruth drops his homers in the good old summer time, assailed the eye. The seats had been painted bright red and across the center of them was painted in white a large billy goat.

Salvation Army lassies in red cloaks weaved in and out among the patrons selling souvenir programs. Hundreds of uniformed policemen were stationed at strategic spots all over the premises. The early arrival were entertained by a battery of cameras, who induced a couple of chaps to bring the Army mule and the Navy goat over to the fifty-yard line to be photographed.

The mule actually kicked the goat in the head. Maybe it was a love tap, but the goat didn't like it at all.

Army entered the game an 8 to 5 favorite. The gridiron was hard and fast. The cold weather had skimmed most of the grass off the surface of the field and the turf was a dark, winter brown.

Here is how the teams line up:
Army: Carlmark, L. E., Steffanides,
Price, L. T., Blawston,
Humber, J. G., Underwood,
Miller, C., Tuttle,
Trice, R. G., Gray,
Armstrong, R. T., Bryan,
Messinger, R. E., Byng,
Bowman, Q. B., Bauer,
Herb, L. B., Gannon,
Sebastian, R. B., Kirn,
Field, F. B., Hagberg.

Referee: E. J. O'Brien, Tufts; Umpire: W. B. Crowley, Bowdoin; Linesman: D. W. Verry, Penn State. Field
judges: A. W. Palmer, Colby.

First period:
Navy kicked off to Kilday, who ran the ball back to the thirty yard line. Aided by a fifteen yard penalty against navy for holding, Army took the ball to Navy's thirty-one yard line. Kilday carried the ball on almost every play. Stecker hit left tackle for six yards and on the next play he made a first down on Navy's twenty yard line.

After failing once, Stecker plunged through center for four yards. A short pass, Stecker to Frenzlel, gained a yard. A long pass over the goal line failed. It was intended for Carlmark and Navy took the ball on the twenty yard stripe. On the first play, there was a poor pass back from center and the ball rolled down the field with a dozen players scrambling for it. Byng of the Navy fell on the ball on the one-yard line, Bowstrom promptly punted, Bowman returning the ball to Navy's thirty-five yard stripe.

Bowman took a short pass from Stecker and ran all the way to Navy's 14-yard line. Two smashes yesterday and escaped without so much as a scratch.

Kilday hit the line for another yard. Stecker dropped back and threw a pass over the goal line but Navy knocked it down and the sailors took the ball on their own twenty yard line.

The first Navy smash at the line was stopped cold. Gannon knifed left tackle for a six yard gain. Hagberg then punted and it was Army's ball on their thirty three yard line.

Army failed to gain and Frenzlel got off a quick kick to the Navy's twenty two yard line. Kirn plunged through left tackle for six yards but Gannon was stopped on the next play.

Hagberg then punted. His kick was poor, however, traveling only to Navy's forty five yard line.

Stecker and Army bucked the line for three yards. Kilday picked up three more through left tackle. The period ended with the ball in Army's possession on the Navy's thirty nine yard mark.

Score: Army 0; Navy 0.
Score at end of the first half was

Woman Hurt In Auto Accident

Runs Into Box Car Left Standing On Pittsburgh And Lake Erie Crossing

Mrs. Charles Smith, 662 East Washington street, sustained an injury below the right knee this morning when her machine crashed into a box car that was standing on the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie crossing on South Mill street.

Mrs. Smith was en route south on South Mill street and a switch engine was working at the point. The guard gates were not down, nor were there any warning lights, according to the report of Mrs. Smith. She did not notice the box car on the crossing, with the result that her machine crashed into it. Her car was damaged to some extent.

E. S. Warnock Jr. was driving north on North Liberty street in the 900 block Friday with a truck of the New Castle Dry Goods Company when a little boy, Albert Harvan, aged 3½ years, 901 Ashland avenue, in running from the east to the west side of North Liberty street, was hit by the right rear fender of the car driven by Mr. Warnock.

The little boy was taken to a physician where it was found that he had apparently escaped injury. In trying to avoid the little boy Mr. Warnock hit a car bearing Pennsylvania license BN626, which was parked at that point. Slight damage was done.

Walter McCormick of R. D. No. 2 reported today that he was en route west on East Washington street when in avoiding a truck which was en route east on the wrong side of the street he was compelled to drive up on the sidewalk. His machine was damaged.

N. A. Perschke, R. D. No. 6, reported today that he was en route east on Butler avenue at Cascade street when his machine hit a car parked on Butler avenue. The latter machine was damaged.

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle

For two Saturdays the day has been announced as the finale of football and then next Saturday somebody else steps out with a game. But today seems to be the genuine finale, with a few teams willing to brave the elements sufficiently to get out there and fight.

Over in New York the Army and Navy forget their quarrel long enough to slug each other for "sweet charity's" sake, Redstone Township High School and Monessen play for the "championship" of the W. P. I. A. L., and here in town the Marcellas and Croton play, also for charity's sake.

A couple of years ago the Army and the Navy teams got mad and took their blue dishes home. Since that time there has been no service game, despite the fact that the entire football loving population of the nation want to see one. They are playing the game today because the president "suggested" it, and another good suggestion for him to make would be to have them play every year.

Signs of winter, the first basketball game got under way last night up at the High School and New Castle defeated Winkinsburg. But don't get all het up, right away, a couple of the team will be ineligible to play all season.

Those lights that are being strung up on the downtown buildings are giving the old town a Christmas look. When they are all finished Washington street will be a Boulevard of Beams.

Another sign of Christmas is the rather sad condition of the average roll. Cards and toys and clothes and trinkets put a nick in the old roll about the size of a butt-cut in a beech tree.

VERNON, O., Dec. 13.—A 77-year old woman, enfeebled by illness was robbed and bound at her home near here today by two boys who broke into her house while she was alone. The robbers obtained $41, blankets and clothing and took an automobile from the garage.

The victim of the robbery, Mrs. Morena Sherman, lives with her son, Alec Sherman, who had left the home for work when the robbers entered. A rope was fastened around the woman's neck and she was led about the house until she had given the boys the money. The youths bound Mrs. Sherman and left with Sherman's automobile. Mrs. Sherman freed herself and walked to the home of neighbors.

WHY

OUR "FORM PRESSING" GIVES YOUR SUIT THAT "TAILORED" LOOK!

Proper and complete equipment is the answer—aided by experienced skill and painstaking ability to restore to the suit the same tailored lines that originally made the garment look as though it just "grew right on you".

In giving it back its original tailored lines we use . . . not just one press . . . but a whole battery of them . . . one for the shoulders, another for the collar, another for the body and so on . . . each one designed especially for its part in making the whole job perfect in appearance.

That's real pressing . . . the kind that helps you get the fullest value, both in wear and looks, from your suit. The kind that puts back the smart creases and tailored lines . . . and makes the suit HOLD its shape much longer.
